Calculated to Cause One-errenth of the Twini Human Mertality.

Dr. Anderson, the medical officer of health of Dundee, delivered an interesting address recently, with a view of quickening public interest on the important topic of tuberculosis. After referring to the history of our knowledge of the specific germ, and of the manner of its propagation, he mentioned the of the specific germ, and of the manner of its propagation, he mentioned the fact that inherculosis had been calculated to cause one-seventh of the total mortality of the human race. It was remarkable that, notwithstanding this remarkable that, notwithstanding this front windows along the street.—Newimportant fact, little practical interest had been taken in the matter by the state, local authorities or individuals. An assumed theory of its unavoidable baneful fatalism. Dr. Anderson main-tained that all tubercle bacilli were derived from predecessors of the same character, and pointed out the facility with which this bacillus adhered to moist surfaces and propagated itself un-der insanitary conditions such as pre-vailed in the overcrowded houses of the poor.

He also mustioned the opinion, held by bacteriologists, that the expired breath of those suffering from the discase was comparatively innucuous, while their spatum swarmed with bacilli and on evaporation and desiccation was apt to become a fruitful source of infection. Hence the paramount necessity for a systematic destruction of the sputum, disinfection of apartments occupied by those suffering from tuberculosis, and disinfection or destruction of articles of clothing likely to retain the germ.

Referring to the large mortality from tuberculose disease, Dr. Anderson men-tioned, as an instance of public apathy in the matter of its prevention, the fact that very few people applied for disin-fection of material after death from this cause in comparison with the number of those who took such precautions in the case of the various fevers. Passing to the subject of the disease in cattle, he pointed out the large mortality among these animals from this cause, and also the relation of milk supply to

The organist says the wedding was the most brilliant of the season, while the shock headed boy who supplied the wind characterizes it as "hot stuff." It would be interesting to know what the clergyman who tied the knot thinks about it.—Philadelphia Record.

Concerning Pronunciation An Englishman who has been visiting in Chicago says it is very amusing to listen to the American ridicule of Englishmen for pronouncing Cholmon-deley "Chumley," Beauchamp Beech-am," etc. "In England," he declares, "you will find, as a rule, that people pronounce Massachusetts 'Ma-satch-azettes.' Absurd? Of course it is, but how are you going to tell? The rule by which it is pronounced 'Massachusetts' is purely arbitrary. The most curious of all your mispronounciations are perhaps the adopted French names. How in the name of the eternal fitness of things do you get 'Soo Saint Mary' out of Tautt Re, Marie? 'Terry Hut' for Terre Haute is just a little worse. It is unaccomminde, too, how you came to call Prairie du Chien 'Prairie doo Sheen.' Of course you have a right to arrange your own pronounciation, but give us the same liberty. We at least have the events the course that have the excuse that our names are 10 or 15 centuries old and have had opportunity to grow naturally corrupted in the lapse of time."—Chicago Standard.

The Athens of the South.

And now comes the Memphis Commercial proclaiming that Memphis is the "Athens of the south." It is a little inte in filling its claim, but we trust that it will be lift condered. There is not a city or town in the whole southern compare, secretary will not or southern remntry, scarcely a village or hamlet, that can boast of a high school, an academy, a college or a university, a reading club or a literary society. that does not hoast of being the "Athens of the south." Meanwhile Knoxville continues to be the "Athens of the south."—Knoxville Tribune.

M. Paderewski, the night before a recital in London, practiced all night, exat least, until 3:30 a. m. The morning after the recital he went to Cheltanham, where he played the same afternoon before a densely packed audience. He exhibited no fatigue.—New York among these animals from this cause, and also the relation of milk supply to infant mortality from tuberculosis.

The proportion of deaths from this cause in children under 5 years of age in Dundee was found to be 1 in 11. All these facts pointed to the necessity for the householder to safe guard his own interests. Dr. Anderson concluded his instructive address by mentioning in detail the preventive and disinfectant measures necessary to secure the highest possible immunity from the scourge.—Lancet.

Mixing the Fees.

An amusing incident has just come to light ament the recent marriage of a prominent young railroad man to an up town belle.
